

BACK TO SCHOOL

Going Back to the School Building Part-Time

I am going back to school soon. When I go back to the school building, things may be different.

One change is that I will only go to school on some days of the week. I will have classes and school work at home the other days of the week.

It might be hard to remember which days I go to the school building. My family member can make me a calendar of which days I am at school and which days I am at home.

If I get worried about when I'll be home or when I'll be at school, I can check my calendar and take some deep breaths.

Even when I am at home, I will need to do my school work. I will still be having school even though I am not in the school building.

On the days I am in school, I will work with my teacher and see my classmates.

On days when I have school at home, I will work with my family and might see my teacher and classmates online.

I will still do school work Monday through Friday. I will just be in a different place on some days.
